I think we all know that a lot of effort is made by the staff at Pens Meadow to help our children with their communication and other difficulties, and I know there are Communication Workshops planned for this term to give parents/carers the opportunity to have hands on experience with the resources and methods used in school. However I know it is difficult for some people to come into school and I wonder if parents and carers know how very willing all the staff are to provide information and resources at any time for us to use with the children. If needed they will come out to demonstrate in the home how to make best use of resources used in school and I found this invaluable because it means seeing first hand the response from your child. I know from personal experience that asking for information and resources is always welcomed.
