

How we teach maths

Maths at Pens Meadow is planned to meet pupil's individual learning targets in each area of learning. Long term plans have been sequenced to ensure that there are opportunities for developing new learning as well as revisit and review and interleaving subjects. There is an emphasis on number and place value across school so that pupils have opportunities to develop their understanding and relate these to real life experiences.

Our sensory and semi-formal pathways are planned to ensure that pupils have opportunities to apply their maths skills through a range of other curriculum subjects whenever possible. In key stage four and five, pupils have a community engagement visit so that they can apply their skills in real life experiences.
